

Operational Support

Vistra brings significant mission support experience to our federal and defense clients. Our operational support capabilities serve to support U.S. national security interests both at home and abroad, all within increasingly complex security environments as we integrate fast-paced technological shifts.

Vistra is characterized by its continuous adaptability. To perform reliably at the speed of relevance, we maintain the flexibility and scalability to support requirements in every operating domain, and at any level of urgency or operational tempo.

Our staff brings a broad skill set that addresses virtually any requirement to support military operations across all U.S. Service Branches and Combatant Commands; from counterterrorism and warfighting to humanitarian aid and disaster relief, Vistra delivers planning and operational support at all clearance levels. As important, our military professionals' high level of performance meets demanding and evolving standards as our approach circumvents outdated management processes in favor of germane business innovation.

Our work spans mission support requirements across the following areas:

- Doctrine, Policy, and Planning Analysis and Development
- Logistics and Supply Chain Management
- Battle Watch and Operations Center Staffing
- Cyber Security and Planning
- Knowledge Management
- Information Operations
- Civil Affairs
- Engineering
- Exercise Planning
